

ABSTRACT

An active information model constructed from an aggregation of personal information portals containing an active agent. In a preferred embodiment, the system of this invention can be offered as a network service
providing for information access and exchange
according to the individual users' preferences.

5

10

097594-0160
FOI-4959260